THE RIGHT HONOURABLE

The Lord Viſcount WEYMOUTH.

MY LORD:

GRatitude and Intereſt are my motives for dedicating this Dictionary to Your Lordſhip. Unable to pay any equivalent for the many obligations You have been pleaſed to lay me under, my Gratitude obliges me to give this public teſtimony of my moſt ſincere and hearty thanks; and the Intereſt I have in the ſucceſs of this Work, for which my fondneſs as an author makes me anxious, induces me to publiſh it under the patronage of a Nobleman, whoſe ſanction will procure it that indulgence from the Public, which it were otherwiſe, perhaps, the higheſt temerity to expect.

To ſay a great deal in favour of my native Tongue, eſpecially to You, My Lord, might juſtly appear ſuperfluous. To the Public it may ſuffice to obſerve, obſerve, that the knowledge of it is conſidered, in this country, as an uſeful, if not as a neceſſary qualification; and this, I venture to hope, will be ground ſufficient for my preſuming to beg, that You would be pleaſed to patronize a performance, the object of which is to facilitate the attainment of a language, in ſome ſort become that of Europe.

There is a ſubject, My Lord, on which I could expatiate with the greateſt Pleaſure, and with unqueſtioned Juſtice; but I know Your character too well, to offend You with praiſe, which, to the moſt deſerving, is ever unwelcome. Let me only be permitted to add, that I am, with the profoundeſt reſpect,

MY LORD,

Your Lordſhip's

moſt obliged,

and moſt obedient,

humble Servant,

THOMAS DELETANVILLE.

THE PREFACE TO THE FRENCH and ENGLISH DICTIONARY.

IT has, been my conſtant endeavour to make this Dictionary worthy the acceptance of the Public; and I ſhall think myſelf very happy, if I have ſucceeded. To render it as uſeful as I can, I muſt explain, in few words, the plan which I have followed. It is divided into Two Parts; the Firſt of which contains the French and Engliſh, and the other comprehends the Engliſh and French words. What is ſaid here, relates chiefly to the Firſt Part; as the obſervations, neceſſary to make a proper uſe of the Second, will precede that Part.

A ſhort Grammar, containing all the various terminations of the regular parts of French ſpeech, is prefixed to the French Dictionary, in order to avoid repetitions, which would otherwiſe have been as frequent as thereby they are rendered uſeleſs. With the help of ſuch a Grammar, beginners will eaſily learn how to form the regular French words; and they cannot be at a loſs about the formation of the others, ſince their irregularities will, in the Dictionary, be pointed out in their reſpective places.

It is evident, that the more words a Dictionary contains, the more uſeful it is; and for that reaſon I have introduced ſeveral hundred French words, which are not found in the other Dictionaries.

If learners ſhould never be miſled, they muſt eſpecially not be led aſtray by Dictionaries, which they always take for their guides. I have therefore carefully avoided to give admittance to ſeveral improper words, which are found in BOYER's.

A Participle, of whatever kind it is ſuppoſed to be, makes part of a Verb, and has no more right to a ſeparate article in a Dictionary than the other parts of that Verb. If it muſt be introduced by itſelf, every other part of any Verb may reaſonably claim a ſeparate article.

In a book deſigned for the uſe of thoſe who do not underſtand French, or are very little acquainted with that language, it is very ridiculous to explain a French word by another French word, or by a French ſentence: the meaning of that word ought to be conveyed by an Engliſh word or ſentence; and this practice I have conſtantly followed.

Whenever a French word has two or more meanings, thoſe meanings are, in this work, made known by Engliſh words or ſentences, to which various numbers are prefixed, in order to diſtinguiſh them from each other; as Accommoder, v. a. 1. 1 to dreſs. 2 to ſuit. 3 to adapt. 4 to make up. 5 to cook. 6 to mend. 7 to uſe ill. 8 to fit up. 9 to reconcile.

The different meanings are often explained by French ſentences, with the Engliſh annexed to and the reſpective number placed before each of them; as

1 Accommoder quelqu'un à la Françoiſe, to dreſs one after the French faſhion. 2 —— quelqu'un, to ſuit one. 3 —— un ſujet au théatre, to adapt a ſubject to the ſtage. 4 —— un différent, to make up a quarrel. 5 —— du poiſſon, to cook fiſh. 6 —— ſes affaires, to mend one's affairs. 7 —— quelqu'un comme il le mérite, to uſe one as ill as he deſerves. 8 —— ſa maiſon, to fit up one's houſe. 9 —— la dévotion avec la coqueterie, to reconcile devotion with coquetry.

The ſhort line, placed between each number and the French, ſtands inſtead of the Verb accommoder, and was made uſe of to ſave room, and thereby render the Dictionary more compleat.

It may be aſked, Why the meanings of the French words are elucidated by French ſentences in ſeveral articles, and are not ſo in others? I muſt own, that it would be better, if the meanings of every French word were explained by French ſentences; but it ought to be conſidered, that this book, being intended for ſchools, is only an epitome, and cannot therefore comprehend theſe explanatory ſentences.

There are ſome French words for which no correſpondent Engliſh words are to be found. When this happens, thoſe meanings are explained in French and Engliſh ſentences placed immediately after the various meanings of the French words, or after the French and Engliſh ſentences ſhewing thoſe different meanings: for inſtance, after the nine ſentences explaining the nine different meanings of the Verb accommoder, you find the following ſentences; viz.

Voulez vous m'accommoder de votre cheval? will you ſell me your horſe? ils vous accommoderont bien, they will uſe you well.

The French proverbs and idiomatical phraſes will be found in the ſame places.

Whenever the Engliſh of a French word does not bring to the mind a clear idea of that word, it is elucidated by ſome words in a parentheſis, or by other words fixing the ſenſe of that Engliſh word. This will appear in the following article; viz.

Guichet, ſ. m. 1 (a ſmall door in a larger) wicket. 2 a window-ſhutter.

dow-ſhutter. 3 door of a cupboard, &c. 4 wicket of a confeſſionary. 5 a ſmall paſſage, in a town.

Numbers are ſometimes uſed to ſhew to what part of an article a word, whoſe meanings are explained, has a relation: for inſtance, the article indice runs thus:

Indice, ſ. m. 1 ſign, ſymptom. 2 table or index of a book. 3 See Index, 1, 2.

In this article, the words and numbers See Index 1, 2, ſhew that the word Indice, beſides its two firſt imports, may alſo be engliſhed by the words fore-finger, and index of a globe or watch, which are found in the article Index, after the numbers 1 and 2.

One of the greateſt advantages of this Dictionary, over thoſe hitherto publiſhed, is, that it contains all the various ſignifications of the French words; whereas ſeveral are omitted in the others. This will appear in many thouſand articles; but, not to tire the reader's patience, I ſhall only quote one at random, and compare it with the ſame article extracted out of BOYER's and CHAMBAUD's Dictionaries.

DELETANVILLE's.

Revêtir, v. a. 2. (conj. like vêtir) 1 to cloath, to give cloaths to. 2 to cloath, to dreſs. 3 to inveſt, to inſtall with any dignity or honour. 4 to inveſt with lands, &c. to put into poſſeſſion of. 5 to line, to cover. 6 to give, to beſtow.

Il eſt revêtu tout de neuf, he has new cloaths on; —— de

BOYER's.

Revêtir, v. a. (habiller) to clothe.

Revêtir, (inveſtir) to veſt, inveſt, or give poſſeſſion.

CHAMBAUD's.

Revétir, v. a. (donner des habits à quelqu'un qui en a beſoin) to give clothes, to clothe.

Revétir (ſe dit des habits, ou des aûtres marques de dignité) to dreſs, to put on.

Revétir un baſtion, &c. (le remparer de pierre,

DELETANVILLE's.	BOYER's.	CHAMBAUD's.
de ſes habits royaux, he is in his royal robes; —— d'un plein pouvoir, he is inveſted with a full power; —— de pluſieurs belles qualités, he is endowed with many amiable qualities; un gueux revêtu, an upſtart.		pierre, de brique, &c.) to line, to face, to overcaſt a baſtion. Revêtir (ſe dit des charges, des bénéfices dont on eſt pourvu) to inveſt, to veſt, to confer, to beſtow.

The word Revêtir has, in my Dictionary, ſix different imports, beſides thoſe contained in the French and Engliſh ſentences; in that of BOYER it has but two; and in that of CHAMBAUD only four.

It appears by this and the other articles of BOYER's and CHAMBAUD's Dictionaries, that thoſe Gentlemen explain the French words by other French words or ſentences. Out of ten Engliſhmen, who make uſe of a French Dictionary, there are hardly two who underſtand the French language. Of what uſe then are thoſe explanatory French words and ſentences, to the eight perſons that are unacquainted with the French?

It is uſual with Lexicographers to copy one another. Hence it happens, that the ſame improper Engliſh is found annexed to the French words and ſentences in different Dictionaries. It would be preſumption in me to pretend, that I have never committed any blunder in my tranſlations; but I may venture to affirm, that I have not copied thoſe of other writers.

It will not be amiſs to obſerve, that a diſtinction ought to be made between the French Participles paſſive. Such of thoſe Participles, as have only the ſignifications of their reſpective Verbs, are, as it has been ſaid before, parts of thoſe Verbs, and need not be taken particular notice of; but there are ſome which, beſides the ſignifications of their Verbs, have alſo the imports of Adjectives. Such Participles, being alſo Adjectives, muſt be, and are in this work, intitled to ſeparate articles.

This Dictionary is more copious than the abridgement of BOYER's; and it will even appear, upon inſpection, that it contains at leaſt one third more than that Dictionary. To make room for ſo many materials, I have, Firſt, refuſed admittance to the regular French Participles, which may very eaſily be learned from the Grammar prefixed.

Secondly, I have very much leſſened the number of the alineas, which in other Dictionaries take a great deal of room, that might have been employed to a better purpoſe.

Thirdly, I have omitted thoſe ſentences and phraſes which ſwell the other Dictionaries, although they have not the leaſt tendency to the improvement of the learner.

Laſtly, I have often left out the reflected and impersonal Verbs, the meanings of which muſt certainly be known to any one who is acquainted with the meanings of their active Verbs.

Such is the Plan which I have followed. Whether it be well contrived, and tolerably executed, I muſt leave to the impartial Public to determine.

A SHORT

A SHORT
GRAMMAR
OF THE
FRENCH TONGUE,

Neceſſary to thoſe who intend to make uſe of this DICTIONARY.

THERE are nine parts of French Speech, viz. the Noun, Adjective, Pronoun, Verb, Participle, Adverb, Prepoſition, Conjunction, and Interjection. The four laſt being undeclined, and each Pronoun declined in its reſpective place, there need no remarks upon them; it is therefore ſufficient to make few obſervations upon the Nouns, Adjectives, Verbs, and Participles.

Of the regular Nouns.

FRENCH Nouns, ending in s, x, and z, have their Singular and Plural alike; as

SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
Le fils, the ſon.	Les fils, the ſons.
La noix, the walnut.	Les noix, the walnuts.
Le nez, the noſe.	Les nez, the noſes.

The other Nouns form their Plural by adding an s to their Singular; as

SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
Le prince, the prince.	Les princes, the princes.
La ducheſſe, the ducheſs.	Les ducheſſes, the ducheſſes.

It muſt be however obſerved, 1ſt, that in polyſyllabical Nouns, ending in nt, the t is by many grammarians left out in the Plural; as

SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
Un enfant, a child.	Des enfans, children.
Un ſavant, a learned man.	Des ſavans, learned men.

2dly, That all the proper names and foreign nouns take no s in their plural; as,

SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
Corneille, Corneille.	Les deux Corneille, the two Corneille.
Un alleluia, an allelujah.	Des alleluia, allelujahs.

3dly, That we ſay des aparté, aſide; des in-douze, duodecimo's; des in-ſeize, ſixteenths.

Of regular Adjectives.

ALL the Adjectives, ending in e not ſounded, are of both Genders; as

MASCULINE.	FEMININE.
Un honnête homme, an honeſt man.	Une honnête femme, an honeſt woman.
Un habit rouge, a red coat.	Une veſte rouge, a red waiſtcoat.

And the others add only an e, not ſounded, to their feminine; as

MASCULINE.	FEMININE.
Un petit garçon, a little boy.	Une petite fille, a little girl.
Un mauvais poëte, a bad poet.	Une mauvaiſe plume, a bad pen.

The Adjectives, ending in s and x, have their Singular and Plural alike; as

SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
Un gros arbre, a large tree.	De gros arbres, large trees.
Un bonnet roux, a red cap.	Des bonnets roux, red caps.

The others, whether they be maſculine or feminine, form their Plural by adding an s to their Singular; as

SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
Un ami ſincere, a ſincere friend.	Des amis ſinceres, ſincere friends.

Of regular Pronouns.

THE only remark to be made upon theſe Pronouns is, that, whether they be maſculine or feminine, they form their Plural by adding an s to their Singular; as

SINGULAR.		PLURAL.
Le mien,	mine.	Les miens,	mine.
La mienne,		Les miennes,
Leur, their,		Leurs, their.

Of the regular Verbs.

THE conjugation of a French Verb conſiſts in its various endings, denoting its moods, ſingle tenſes, numbers, and perſons.

The infinitive is the root of the participles and firſt perſons ſingular of the ſingle tenſes; for inſtance, from the infinitive aim-er, to love, come

The participle active, aim-ant, loving;
The participle paſſive, aim-é, loved;
The firſt perſon of the preſent of the indicative, j'aim-e, I love;
The firſt perſon of the imperfect, j'aim-ois, I did love;
The firſt perſon of the preterite, j'aim-ai, I loved;

The

The first person of the future, j'aim-erai, I shall love;
The first person of the conditional, j'aim-erois, I should love;
The first person of the present of the conjunctive, que j'aim-e, that I may love;
The first person of the preterite, que j'aim-asse, that I might love.

As to the other persons of each tense, they are derived from the first person singular; for instance, from the first person singular of the present of the indicative mood, j'aim-e, I love, are derived the other persons of the same tense; viz.

Tu aim-es, thou loveſt.
Il aim-e, he loves.
Nous aim-ons, we love.
Vous aim-ez, ye love.
Ils aim-ent, they love.

There are six French Conjugations, chiefly known by the endings of their infinitive moods in er, ir, evoir, or e not sounded.

First Conjugation.

TO conjugate a regular Verb of this conjugation, you need only place the following terminations after the letters which precede the ending er of the infinitive of that Verb; as

INFINITIVE MOOD. Aim-er, to love.

Participle active; Aim-ant, loving. | Participle passive; Aim-é, loved.

INDICATIVE MOOD.

PRESENT.
J'aim-e, I love.
Tu aim-es, thou loveſt.
Il aim-e, he loves.
Nous aim-ons, we love.
Vous aim-ez, ye love.
Ils aim-ent, they love.

IMPERFECT.
J'aim-ois, I did love.
Tu aim-ois, thou didſt love.
Il aim-oit, he did love.
Nous aim-ions, we did love.
Vous aim-iez, ye did love.
Ils aim-oient, they did love.

PRETERITE.
J'aim-ai, I loved.
Tu aim-as, thou lovedſt.
Il aim-a, he loved.
Nous aim-ames, we loved.
Vous aim-ates, ye loved.
Ils aim-erent, they loved.

FUTURE.
J'aim-erai, I ſhall love.
Tu aim-eras, thou ſhalt love.
Il aim-era, he ſhall love.
Nous aim-erons, we ſhall love.
Vous aim-erez, ye ſhall love.
Ils aim-eront, they ſhall love.

CONDITIONAL.

J'aim-erois, I ſhould love; tu aim-erois, thou ſhouldeſt love; il aim-eroit, he ſhould love; nous aim-erions, we ſhould love; vous aim-eriez, ye ſhould love; ils aim-eroient, they ſhould love.

CONJUNCTIVE MOOD.

PRESENT.
Que j'aim-e, that I may love.
Que tu aim-es, that thou mayeſt love.

PRETERITE.
Que j'aim-aſſe, that I might love.
Que tu aim-aſſes, that thou mighteſt love.

PRESENT.

PRESENT.	PRETERITE.
Qu'il aim-e, that he may love.	Qu'il aim-ât, that he might love.
Que nous aim-ions, that we may love.	Que nous aim-assions, that we might love.
Que vous aim-iez, that ye may love.	Que vous aim-assiez, that ye might love.
Qu'ils aim-ent, that they may love.	Qu'ils aim-assent, that they might love.

The imperative of this Conjugation is formed of the preſent of the indicative, and that of the conjunctive, but takes off the final s from the ſecond perſon ſingular; as,

Aim-e, love thou.	Aim-ez, love ye.
Qu'il aim-e, let him love.	Qu'ils aim-ent, let them love.
Aim-ons, let us love.

It muſt here be obſerved, 1ſt, That, in order to have every-where the ſame ſoft pronunciation, the e of the ending of the infinitive is, in all the Verbs ending in ger; as manger, to eat, to be kept before the terminations beginning with an a or an o: therefore, inſtead of the harſh ſounds, mang-ant, eating, &c. you muſt ſay and write,

Mang-eant, eating.	Nous mang-eames, we eat.
Nous mang-eons, we eat.	Vous mang-eates, ye eat.
Je mang-eois, I did eat.	Que je mang-easſe, that I may eat.
Tu mang-eois, thou didſt eat.	Que tu mang-easſes, that thou mighteſt eat.
Il mang-eoit, he did eat.	Qu'il mang-eat, that he might eat.
Ils mang-eoient, they did eat.	Que nous mang-easſions, that we might eat.
Je mang-eai, I eat.	Que vous mang-easſiez, that ye might eat.
Tu mang-eas, thou eateſt.	Qu'ils mang-easſent, that they might eat.
Il mang-ea, he eat.	Mang-eons, let us eat.

2dly, That, for the ſame reaſon, in all the Verbs ending in cer, as perc-er, to pierce, a cedilla muſt be placed under the c of the ending, thus (ç), before the terminations beginning with an a or an o: therefore, inſtead of the harſh ſounds perc-ant, piercing, &c. you muſt ſay and write,

Perç-ant, piercing.	Que je perç-aſſe, that I might pierce.
Nous perç-ons, we pierce.	Que tu perç-aſſes, that thou mighteſt pierce.
Je perç-ois, I did pierce.	Qu'il perç-ât, that he might pierce.
Tu perç-ois, thou didſt pierce.	Que nous, perç-aſſions, that we might pierce.
Il perç-oit, he did pierce.	Que vous perç-aſſiez, that ye might pierce.
Ils perç-oient, they did pierce.	Qu'ils perç-aſſent, that they might pierce.
Je perç-ai, I pierced.	Perç-ons, let us pierce.
Tu perç-as, thou piercedſt.
Il perç-a, he pierced.
Nous perç-ames, we pierced.
Vous perç-ates, ye pierced.

Second Conjugation.

TO conjugate a regular Verb of this Conjugation, you need only place the following terminations after the letters which precede the ending ir of the infinitive of that Verb; as

INFINITIVE. Pun-ir, to puniſh.

PART. ACT. Pun-iſſant, puniſhing.	PART. PASS. Pun-i, puniſhed.

INDICATIVE

INDICATIVE MOOD.

PRES. Je pun-is, I puniſh; tu pun-is, il pun-it; nous puniſſ-ons, vous pun-iſſez, ils pun-iſſent.

IMP. Je pun-iſſois, I did puniſh; tu pun-iſſois, il pun-iſſoit; nous pun-iſſions, vous pun-iſſiez, ils pun-iſſoient.

PRET. Je pun-is, I puniſhed; tu pun-is, il pun-it; nous pun-imes, vous pun-ites, ils pun-irent.

FUT. Je pun-irai, I ſhall puniſh; tu pun-iras, il pun-ira; nous pun-irons, vous pun-irez, ils pun-iront.

COND. Je pun-irois, I ſhould puniſh; tu pun-irois, il pun-iroit; nous pun-irions, vous pun-iriez, ils pun-iroient.

CONJUNCTIVE MOOD.

PRES. Que je pun-iſſe, that I may puniſh; que tu pun-iſſes, qu'il pun-iſſe; que nous pun-iſſions, que vous pun-iſſiez, qu'ils pun-iſſent.

PRET. Que je pun-iſſe, that I might puniſh; que tu pun-iſſes, qu'il pun-ît; que nous pun-iſſions, que vous pun-iſſiez, qu'ils pun-iſſent.

The Imperatives of this and the following Conjugations are formed of the preſent of the Indicative, and that of the Conjunctive mood; as Fin-is, finiſh thou.

Qu'il fin-iſſe, let him finiſh.
Fin-iſſons, let us finiſh.
Fin-iſſez, finiſh ye.
Qu'ils fin-iſſent, let them finiſh.

It will not be amiſs to obſerve here, that the Participle active of the regular Verbs in ir, end in iſſant, and their Imperfect in iſſois; whereas the irregular Verbs in that Participle and Tenſe end in ant and ois.

Third Conjugation.

TO conjugate a regular Verb of this Conjugation, one needs only place the following terminations after the letters which precede the ending in evoir of the infinitive of that Verb; as INFINITIVE. Rec-evoir, to receive.

PART. ACT. Rec-evant, receiving. | PART. PASS. Reç-u, received.

INDICATIVE MOOD.

PRES. Je reç-ois, I receive; tu reç-ois, il reç-oit; nous rec-evons, vous rec-evez, ils reç-oivent.

IMP. Je rec-evois, I did receive; tu rec-evois, il rec-evoit; nous rec-evions, vous rec-eviez, ils rec-evoient.

PRET. Je reç-us, I received; tu reç-us, il reç-ut; nous reç-umes, vous reç-utes, ils reç-urent.

FUT. Je rec-evrai, I ſhall receive; tu rec-evras, il rec-evra; nous rec-evrons, vous rec-evrez, ils rec-evront.

COND. Je rec-evrois, I ſhould receive; tu rec-evrois, il rec-evroit; nous rec-evrions, vous rec-evriez, ils rec-evroient.

CONJUNCTIVE MOOD.

PRES. Que je reç-oive, that I may receive; que tu reç-oives, qu'il reç-oive; que nous rec-evions, que vous rec-eviez, qu'ils reç-oivent.

PRET. Que je reç-uſſe, that I might receive; que tu reç-uſſes, qu'il reç-ut; que nous reç-uſſions, que vous reç-uſſiez, qu'ils reç-uſſent.

Obſerve, that in order to ſoften the Pronunciation, a cedilla is placed before the terminations beginning with an u.

Of the three laſt Conjugations.

THESE Conjugations ending in e not ſounded, are diſtinguiſhed from each other by the vowels and diphthongs coming immediately before the conſonants of their endings.

For inſtance, the vowels a, e, i, o, and u, are the characteriſtics of the fourth Conjugation; as

B-*a*ttre, to beat.
M-*e*ttre, to put.
Conſtru-*i*re, to build.
M-*o*rdre, to bite.
Concl-*u*re, to conclude.

The diphthongs ai, oi, and ou, are the characteriſtics of the fifth Conjugation; as

Pl-*ai*re, to pleaſe.
B-*oi*re, to drink.
Cr-*oi*re, to believe.
C-*ou*dre, to ſew.

The nazal vowels, an, en, om, on, ain, ein, and oin, are the characteriſtics of the laſt Conjugation; as

Rep-*an*dre, to ſpill.
Déf-*en*dre, to forbid.
R-*om*pre, to break.
Rép-*on*dre, to anſwer.
Cr-*ain*dre, to fear.
P-*ein*dre, to paint.
J-*oin*dre, to join.

Every one of theſe Conjugations being divided into ſeveral branches, if you have a mind to conjugate a Regular Verb belonging to any one of them, you muſt place the terminations of its branch immediately after the letter or letters preceding the ending of its infinitive.

As on the one hand the perſons of a tenſe are commonly derived from the firſt, and on the other, a verb of each of the three Firſt Conjugations has been conjugated throughout, it will, methinks, be ſufficient for the future to ſet down the firſt perſons of the tenſes in which the other perſons are derived from the firſt, and to let the learners form thoſe perſons themſelves.

Fourth Conjugation.

THE regular verbs of this Conjugation form their Participles paſſive three different ways; viz. in u, is, and it.

Thoſe which have either an a, an o, or an u, in the endings of their infinitives, have their Participles in u; as

Battre, to beat;	battu, beaten.
Mordre, to bite;	mordu, bit.
Conclure, to conclude;	conclu, concluded.

Thoſe

Thoſe which have an e in the endings of their infinitives, have their Participles in is; as mettre, to put; m*is*, put.

And thoſe which take an i in the endings of their infinitives, have their Participles in it; as

Conf*ire*, to pickle; conf*it*, pickled.

All theſe Verbs are thus conjugated.

First branch having an a in its ending.

B-*a*ttre, to beat.
B-*a*ttant, beating.
B-*a*ttu, beaten.
Je b-*a*ts, I beat; tu b-*a*ts, il b-*a*t; nous b-*a*ttons, vous b-*a*ttez, ils b-*a*ttent.

Je b-*a*ttois, I did beat.
Je b-*a*ttis, I beat.
Je b-*a*ttrai, I ſhall beat.
Je b-*a*ttrois, I ſhould beat.
Que je b-*a*tte, that I may beat.
Que je b-*a*tiſſe, that I might beat.

Second branch having an e in its ending.

M-*e*ttre, to put.
M-*e*ttant, putting.
M-is, put.
Je m-*e*ts, I put; tu m-*e*ts, il m-*e*t; nous m-*e*ttons, vous m-*e*ttez, ils m-*e*ttent.

Je m-*e*ttois, I did put.
Je m-is, I put.
Je m-*e*ttrai, I ſhall put.
Je m-*e*ttrois, I ſhould put.
Que je m-*e*tte, that I may put.
Que je m-iſſe, that I might put.

Third branch having an i in its ending.

Conſtru-*i*re, to build.
Conſtru-*i*ſant, building.
Conſtru-*i*t, built.
